

justify the taking away of human life or liberty, in the one case, surely it ought to be deemed sufficient to determine our faith in the other.